Down With Democracy?

On April 27th the voters of Canada were asked to say by ballot: "Are you in favor of releasing the Government from any obligation arising out of any past commitments restricting the methods of raising men for military service?"

The language was simple, the question plain. The voters were not asked to say whether they wanted, consented to, or gave voluntary enlistment. They were asked to restore the liberty of parliament to use such methods of raising men as circumstances might require. Legally, parliament always had that power, but its freedom of action had been compromised by election pledges, given by the voters of both major political parties. The voters were asked to cancel these pledges; that and nothing more.

They did so, by a vote of two to one in the Dominion over. The expression of the public will was clear and emphatic. Parliament was told to employ such methods as were necessary, regardless of the election pledges.

On Wednesday last week the Prime Minister invited parliament to implement this mandate from the voters. The only action necessary to that end is to repeal Section Three of the War Measures Act. This is the only action necessary to that end. The powers conferred by the next preceding section may not be exercised for the purpose of requiring persons to serve in the military, naval or air forces outside of Canada and the territorial waters thereof.

The "next preceding section" gave to the Government power to conscript persons, services and property "for securing the public safety, the defence, the maintenance of public order, or the efficient prosecution of the war". Conscription, alike of persons and property, is already in force. Section Three, which is a restriction as to how it shall be employed.

The removal of this restriction is necessary as it is the voters as to be carried into effect. Its repeal would do nothing more, nothing less, and nothing different, than give to parliament the right to conscript. It is not a question of introducing conscription; that is already the law of the land. The proposition is simply that the voters should give to parliament the right to conscript, which parliament placed upon itself and which the voters said it could remove with their consent and approval.

A group of members of the House of Commons representing constituencies in the west have taken issue with the Prime Minister's statement that the House of Commons should ignore this popular mandate and refuse to repeal Section Three. But they are not the only ones opposing the repeal of the Section. The New Democracy members and the C.C.F. members are also opposing the repeal motion, though for other reasons.

Whether these members recognize the fact or not, they all stand on common ground in refusing to accept the decision of the majority of the voters. They frustrate the working of the democratic principle of government. Democratic procedure has never been followed more rigidly than in dealing with this matter. The Prime Minister has incurred censure even to the point of abuse in eight of the nine provinces because of his refusal to repeal the law of majority power in an arbitrary manner. He has followed step by step the course dictated by the principle that the majority must rule, and he has ruled tyrannically. What he now proposes is what the voters have by direct action said parliament should do; nothing more, less or different.

Just twenty-five years ago the parliament of Canada faced a similar situation also on the issue of conscription for overseas service. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, leader of the opposition, urged that the question be submitted to the voters at a plebiscite, and said: "When the consultation with the people has been had, when the verdict has been pronounced, I pledge myself, my reputation, and my life to the result, such as it is, every man will submit, and I claim to speak at least as far as is concerned the province (Quebec) from which I come."

Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, second only to Sir Wilfrid in representing French-Canadian sentiment, asked the question, and it was taken, whether it goes for or against conscription, the French-Canadian majority... will obey the law and fight the battles of Canada as valiantly as their fellowmen of a different race and a different creed."

These were the voices of democracy. They pledged French-Canadians to accept the known will of the majority, and asked only that the law be given an opportunity to declare their will.

On this occasion the voters have been consulted, the issue fully and freely discussed, and the verdict rendered. It is that the Government shall be freed of any obligation arising out of any past commitments restricting the methods of raising men for military service."

Section Three is the only restriction upon this method. If it is repealed the Government will be at free in the matter of raising men for military service as though the compromising election pledges had never been given and never translated into law.

Against this straightforward action the Quebec followers of Mr. Cardin, the New Democracy members, and the C.C.F. members have set themselves. The Cardin group say the section should not be repealed on any account. The others say—by a proposed amendment—that it should not be repealed unless on terms and conditions made by themselves on which terms and conditions the voters have not pronounced.

This difference in the viewpoints of the opposing groups is immaterial. They are all against carrying out the plain mandate that came from the voters. Explaining and justifying the refusal to do so, the fact that they are defying the will of the majority. When the division bells ring only votes will count. If the Cardin Quebec group and the New Democracy group and the C.C.F. group can muster enough votes, the proposal to repeal Section Three will be defeated; the verdict from the plebiscite notwithstanding.

We'll Be On The Spot

Edmonton people on Sunday afternoon are to undergo a test, as to how diligently they have studied the Air Raid Precautions booklet, and also as to how willing they are to co-operate with the military authorities in protecting their own lives and property.

Precisely what is going to happen the public are not informed. That is part of the test, a necessary part which everyone knows what to expect, everyone would find out in advance what to do to meet the particular circumstances—unless, perhaps, by little attention to the precautions in general.

It is to be supposed the public will interest themselves in the raid, and learn to do by the doing the things which everyone knows what to expect, everyone would find out in advance what to do to meet the particular circumstances—unless, perhaps, by little attention to the precautions in general.

"ATTEMPT TO STEAL THE LAND OFFICE"

The first initiation anyone had of the proposed move was seeing the books loaded on the back of a horse, and the horse, which was taken from the land office, while the alarm was sent all over town.

While the clock was ticking the horses were taken off the wagon axes and the horses unhitched so that the stuff already loaded could be removed.

In a very short time not less than 200 men were around the office, and the office was surrounded by a line of men, which was as good as in its own right, the earth spot, in its natural condition—no more of it was to be seen.

Then one of the young men could have replied: "Why? Just how would you calculate the value of the land? It is as good as in its own right, the earth spot, in its natural condition—no more of it was to be seen."

people believe that a tremendous concentration of air power and military power is taking place in that area. There is no doubt about the joint British-American policy with regard to the war in Europe. It is possible that no joint British-American policy has been formulated with regard to these impending events in the North Pacific.

What is more likely, then, than Mr. Churchill and Mr. Roosevelt arriving at some definite understanding in connection with the events which are taking place in Europe. It is possible that Mr. Churchill and Mr. Roosevelt are meditating an attack on Siberian Russia, or what is a base for an extended attack on the Japanese. It will have to be a very definite understanding between Britain and the United States in the matter of the division of duty.

We can be assured of this: that his daily task is too heavy to permit social calls with the President will embrace no formalities. In short, the conference between the two undoubtedly presages some major unfolding of the larger war plan.

BROOKLYN AGAIN HUMILES ST. LOUIS CARDS

Paul Waner Becomes Member Select 3,000-Hit Circle

BOSTON, June 20. — (AP) — Pittsburgh and Boston picked on the day Paul Waner made his 3,000th major league hit to stage an 11-inning thriller that went to the Pirates 7-6 Friday on the strength of Bob Elliott's second home run of the game.

But the big day of the day was the 30-year-old Waner's fifth-inning single off Travis Sewell, Pittsburgh right-hander.

The safety lifted the veteran Boston outfielder, who has led the National League in hitting three times (1927-34, 36, 37), to the select circle occupied only by Ted Coker, Tripe Speaker, Homer Wagner, Napoleon Lajoie, Eddie Collins and Adrian "Cap" Anson.

Waner, who spent 15 of his 17 seasons in the National League with the Pirates, becomes the only active player with that total since former major league players, all occupants of the mythical hall of fame, have laid 2,000 or more hits but all of them spent 20 or more seasons in big league baseball.

After Waner hit, plate umpire Tom Dun halted the game to present him with the 3,000-hit ball. The Pirates began out to a total of four homers during the afternoon.

Jail Sentence

Given Calgary

Gold Swindler

Calgary, June 20—(CP)—The last echo of a "braus film" case at Calgary some time ago was dealt with in district court yesterday by

Judge J. W. McDonald. He sentenced

Henry Kuzma to two years less a day in jail for obtaining $600 from

Miss Simica, Calgary, by false pre-textences. Kuzma's term is to date from April 1, the limit of his sentence.

Several months ago, John Nered, alias Frank Kana, received a similar sentence when found guilty of the same offence.

It was claimed that the two men obtained the money from Simica

in exchange for a bag of filings, represented as gold. Contents of the bag, however, were found to be worthless brass filings.

The problem of finding out the two men obtained the money from Simica

in exchange for a bag of filings,

represented as gold, was a serious

one. Kuzma's term is to date from April 1, the limit of his sentence.

TODAY'S MESSAGE

By Rev. A. FINNIS MARSH, B.D., M.R.E.
Minister, Central United Church
Edmonton

Father

REMEMBER Dad, Father's Day June 21. So advised an item in the newspaper a few nights ago. And dad will be remembered. In homes all across this continent, and beyond, children, younger and older, will tomorrow be bringing or sending their gifts and messages as expressions of the love they have for father. And his heart will be made a little lighter because of this thoughtful gesture.

If the day presents a special opportunity for an expression of love on the part of the child, it also presents many a father with an opportunity for re-dedication to his great task. The gift of a life, or sons, or daughters on Sunday morning will probably remind father of the fact that, in this year gone by, he has often, at great sacrifice, provided his child with the material things, education, and wholesome pleasures in which every child has a right. An older man may ask, "Did I do all this?" A younger man may enquire, "Am I doing my whole duty?" It is well to re-memorise spiritual needs.

These are days of going away; away to work, to a distant city, to war, to a far country. The situation is fraught with dangers for the young folk and their fathers (and mothers). Away from what? That depends. In the first place, upon the young person; then upon dad. What has he made of a Christian? What example has he set? What spiritual background has he given? Our children are upheld by the memory of their fathers in times of difficulty and danger.

A new situation arises out of the war. It will have implications for all children whose fathers are in service in the forces of our country. For many years we have striven to make clear in the minds of parents the fact that the father's role, though different from that of the mother, is equally important. Now so many fathers are away from home, deprived of fatherhood, has anxiety concerning him. Certain adjustments must accordingly be made to lessen the strain of the situation. Every child, and most especially boys, should have contact with wholesome men outside of the home. What an opportunity this presents to relatives, teachers, and leaders; and to you, as somebody else's dad.

Making Friends

If you will adopt the plan of making a better friend of everybody you deal with, you won't have to think anything about whether you are courteous or not. Your heart will tell you what to do. (Henry L. Doherty).

MAYOR URGES CITIZENS TO CO-OPERATE

City Ready For First Full Scale Test Alert Sunday

Every Conceivable Phase Of Enemy Attack Will Be Simulated In Defence Test

Plans were completed Friday afternoon by Edmonton's Air Raid Precautions Committee for the test alert which will be held on Sunday afternoon between 3:30 and 5:00 o'clock, and an appeal was made by Mayor John W. Fry, chairman of the committee, for the fullest co-operation of all Edmontonians.

Who's the Who

Between 4,000 and 5,000 volunteer air raid wardens will swing into action Sunday afternoon to test the precautions and plans that have been adopted for the safety of Edmonton and the residents of the city.

"This is not a show or a spectacle, we are putting on," stated Mayor Fry, "it is a test of the precautions and plans for the preservation of life and property in Edmonton. Only by the absolute co-operation of the general public can this test be successfully accomplished."

STENCH REPORT

"I would therefore ask all citizens to read carefully the instructions given in the press and when taking it in operation I would ask them to faithfully carry out the instructions. This test alert is no sham. It is a sincere effort by the volunteer air raid wardens to test out their plans, and also to give the public the opportunity to learn what is expected of them when a real air raid on the city," stated Mayor Fry.

"It is not a show for people to watch, but a test in which every one is to participate. It is an opportunity to everyone to learn how to prepare your own home against an air attack."

"Edmontonians always have been extremely civic-minded. This test call for the utmost co-operation of everyone, and I am confident you will give it."

Persons with weak eyes, and some who were never conscious of any defect in their eyes, are enabled by a careful examination of glasses to see in a manner they never thought possible. Others who were compelled to abandon their chosen calling on account of failing eyes have, after using properly fitted glasses, been able to continue.

Don't neglect your eyes. Have them examined at regular intervals.

THE HUMAN EYE A WONDERFUL ORGAN
By J. E. THOMAS, Optometrist

The sense of sight is the most remarkable of all our senses, both for the special nature of the impression which it receives, the complicated structure of its apparatus, and the variety and value of the information which it affords with regard to external objects.

It is by this sense that we receive the impressions of light and color, with all their modifications of intensity and constancy, and acquire our principal ideas of form, space and movement. The eye is also superior to the other organs of special sense in the degree of its action and in the delicacy of the distinction which it is capable of.

THE QUESTION
Should the seven-day week be instituted in the ship building industry?

THE ANSWERS
BENNY LEONARD, accountant: Ships are the greater current need of the United Nations. Ship building is part of a concerted North American plan to replace the huge submarine losses which threaten to ruin the supplies of the democratic world. As surely as on the battle fields the war must be won in the shipyards. Seven days a week and every minute of the seven days should be utilized in the building of ships.

THOMAS HARDY, farmer: Any person who opposed the seven-day week in the ship building industry should have his head examined, or perhaps some more drastic measures would probably fit the case better. Ships should be built as fast as manpower can do the job. There should be no quibbling on ship yards and in warehouses because of shipping shortage.

RICHARD ELLIOTT, machinist: If the manpower is available to run the seven-day shift they should be installed immediately. If the manpower is not available it is the duty of government to see that the manpower is made available and trained to take on the work. It is useless to manufacture the work and then to produce food for the fighting forces and find it lying unused on ship yards and in warehouses because of shipping shortage.

A meeting of the Edmonton Public School Board will be held in the Board room, 510 Civic block, Tuesday at 8 p.m.

Here Are Hints About Conduct During Raids

When an air raid comes, a person is apt to be caught unprepared and before one's wits can be gathered, confusion is likely to hold sway.

Here is a set of instructions issued by the Edmonton Air Raid Precautions Committee, which must be followed in a co-operative spirit, with each person doing his part.

This is what to do when the air raid siren wails:

KEEP CALM, DON'T PANIC

Obey all instructions calmly and promptly. Above all—think before you act. But remember—You are on your own.

No emergency services of any kind will be provided for you except through your warden.

Do not touch any broken or fallen electric wire—Report it to your warden.

TO THE HOUSEHOLDS

1 Send the others to the Refuge Room.

2 Then turn off all gas burners. (Use detailed instructions on tag attached to your gas meter.) Put out coal or wood fire.

3 Fill bathtub, basins, pails and pugs with water.

4 Check up on blackout arrangements. Don't let one crack of light show in the outside. Don't forget the skylight.

5 Make sure the sand boxes and sand pails are full and ready for instant use. Make sure the garden hose, equipped with combination spray and jet nozzle, is connected in the basement tap. If you have a sump pump, make sure it is in good order.

6 See that all eyeglasses, dentures, jewelry, and valuable documents are in the Refuge room.

7 Take the dog to the Refuge room, but not the cat. Cats go insane.

8 Keep out of line of windows. Fragments and glass splinters cause most casualties.

9 If bombs fall nearby, get under a heavy table or overturned cupboard.

10 Trap your attic and other rooms for incendiaries. You can seldom hear them strike your home. If they do strike—get busy and get the fire under control.

11 If incendiaries fall in the yard, leave them alone.

12 Don't use the telephone, except in case of real emergency, to call your warden or police.

13 Don't tell or bother the fire department, medical services, the police or the neighbors.

appealed for full co-operation of all residents in planning against attack.

CAREFULLY CONSIDERED

These instructions have received the careful consideration of the air raid precautions committee. They were worked out so as to give a maximum of efficiency."

We cannot speak too highly of the many organizations and individuals who have volunteered their time in aid of this work. But their work is not enough for we must have the energy of every citizen directed towards doing his or her share in preparing this city against attack."

Swimming Pools Will Be Closed During Period Air Raid Alert

Edmonton's swimming pools, will be closed at 2:30 Sunday afternoon and no tickets will be sold at the Kensington City Pools after that hour until the 5 p.m. "all clear" is sounded in the test raid on Sunday. It was announced today by Commissioner R. J. Gibb.

All sports, picnics and other camps where large crowds would congregate have been cancelled and an appeal is being made to other golf clubs in the city and vicinity to cancel play during the alert.

Commissioner Gibb called for the co-operation of all citizens in the alert. He said that the test was being put on to test the precautions being made for the safety of Edmonton residents, and it was their duty to co-operate to the limit.

ISSUES APPEAL

Test of Mr. Gibb's statement follows:

Inasmuch as four or five thousand volunteers are practicing under considerable time for carrying out military drills for the common good of our people, the ARP Committee requests all citizens to co-operate to the extent of remaining off the streets during the period of the alert, namely from 2:30 p.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday, June 21, and otherwise observe any other local conditions which may be imposed."

AT DESTINATIONS

Citizens who ordinarily have to be on the streets during these hours should, if possible, reach their destinations before 3:30 p.m. In this connection the public should note that all street cars will be stopped between 3:30 p.m. and 5 p.m. and automobiles will be ordered to the curb for that period unless the driver has a good reason to proceed, in which case he will be handed a pass. It is not desirable that large crowds of people should gather outside and with this view baseball and other games have been cancelled. The swimming pools will be closed for the day at 2:30 p.m. and no tickets will be sold at the municipal golf links after that hour until the "all clear" is sounded. It is hoped that other golf courses within the city limits will follow this example.

NOT ON STREETS

It is not necessary that everyone should be at home but the committee does not want traffic on the streets.

Certain "incidents" are being practiced but the location of these will not be given out except to those concerned and it is not intended that these should attract general public attention.

In the event of inclement weather the alert may be called off. In this event notice will be given over the radio.

"OLD GUARD" ON DUTY

Veterans Volunteer Reserve Performs Vital Function

Widespread Services Donated By Soldiers Who Fought Last War

Men who have seen villages, towns and cities devastated by bomb and shell fire, members of the Veterans' Volunteer Reserve are among those taking a leading part in air raid precautions work in this city. Veterans of the Great War of 1914-1918, members of the V.V.R., will act in full knowledge of what they are up against. Whether it is a test alert, or a general raid, the men of the V.V.R. will be on the job, cool and collected and will give assistance to all.

Augmented by auxiliary workers the Veterans' Volunteer Reserve has been giving the task of providing warnings. These "old-timers" continue to do something to help the war effort, are helping in many ways to make raid precautions here as efficient and well organized as possible.

The original purpose of the Veterans' Volunteer Reserve was organized to combat subversive activity and to assist police in the event of sabotage or threats from fifth columnists. Long training in rifle shooting, long training has enabled the soldiers to "brush up" on practical training they received in the First Great War of 1914-1918.

Each member of the air raid committees in Edmonton is responsible for the organization of his department. The complete organization of all its services with those of other departments.

The war department is responsible for the organization and instruction of the entire civilian population, residential and industrial. In an emergency, it takes over complete control of all citizens and their activities.

The V.V.R. and auxiliary workers have distributed thousands of pamphlets for use of citizens in preparing for an air attack. They also have made a house-to-house canvass of equipment and facilities in every home.

The entire war department is under the direction of Capt. A. Huff and operated by the North and South Edmonton battalions of the Veterans' Volunteer Reserve and auxiliary workers.

The city has been divided into the use of all types of gas masks. The training is rigorous, including digging for persons under piles of debris, removing them from under cars or high buildings, while wearing masks specified for the occasion. This is often carried on in the darkness. The "patient" has tag specifying injuries and proper treatment of such cases must be given.

All of the men taking the rescue training are members of the association or of the St. John A.R.P. reserve.

Working under the direction of Dr. Little, Superintendent Alibrizzi of the brigade says war workers and the public generally should know the rudiments of first aid at all times. It is quite essential to know how to do first aid as it is to know what not to do, he says.

There are four elementary rules that all should learn, as listed by Mr. Alibrizzi:

1. Learn to check bleeding.
2. Know how to apply artificial respiration.
3. Learn to steady a fracture and probably prevent a simple fracture from being made into a compound one.
4. Ascertain how to treat shock in accident cases. Shock is one of the serious factors that the surgeon and physician has to overcome.

One of the clauses that is getting attention in this elementary work of first aid is composed of air raid warnings. This is a short course designed to acquaint the wardens with immediate care of victims.

WORKERS ATTACHED TO FIRST AID STATIONS who may have occasion to assist in carrying stretchers or moving injured persons, will also receive the elementary course.

Later, it is planned to give the wardens training in anti-gas work. Waiting to take up the training of 16 qualified instructors, all carrying certificates of St. John Ambulance association in anti-gas training.

RESCUE WORK. Rescue work is another and more difficult phase of A.R.P. training. To qualify as instructors in this, the St. John Ambulance has 20 members here now in training. Four teams of five men are hard at work under the direction of W. G. Brooks, provincial mine rescue superintendent under the workmen's compensation board. They are being given training in

Heads Military

Lt.-Col. E. Brown, M.M., E.D., area commander, who is in charge of the military division of Air Raid Precautions work in Edmonton.

98 sectors with an average population of 1,100 in each. Each sector has its own warden's post, which is under a sector chief warden and his deputy and manned by a staff of air raid wardens and other workers.

Each warden's post is responsible for the protection of all life and property within that sector. In an emergency, the warden's post controls all civilians present in the sector and regulates their activities.

Only through the warden and the warden's post can anyone receive medical aid or assistance from the police, fire department or from any of the utilities.

ATTACHED TO CONTROLS. Every sector is attached to one of 26 district controls called first aid posts.

In an emergency, each sector must be treated as an isolated community which has voluntarily placed itself under the complete control of the sector chief warden.

Every sector in turn is divided into warden patrols, with either an air raid warden or V.V.R. assigned to each patrol. The warden in your district will wear either a V.V.R. armband or an air raid warden armband.

Homes Should Have First Aid Kit-Bag

Every home should be equipped with first aid materials in case of an air raid. Here are the suggestions offered by the St. John Ambulance Brigade for equipment needed in every home.

- There should be:
  1. A roll of cotton.
  2. Bandages: one, two- and three-inch.
  3. Triangular bandages.
  4. Ordinary gauze dressings in various sizes. They can be bought already prepared.
  5. Rubber gloves.
  6. Adhesive tape.
  7. A bottle of antiseptic.
  8. Eye-wash and dropper.
  9. Fine camel-hair brush, to remove any foreign particles lodged in the eyes.
  10. Boracic powder for burns.
  11. Unscented soap and nail-brushes to keep hands clean.
  12. Safety pins and scissors.
  13. Tourniquet.
  14. Hot water bottle.
  15. Blankets or a heavy rug always be kept with the first-aid kit.

General Principles Air Raid Conduct

During an air raid, there are some first principles of action that should come to mind. Here they are:

1. Remove the bulbs from all outside lighting.
2. Turn off all unnecessary inside lighting.
3. Make certain that no crack of light is visible from the outside. Don't forget the skylight.
4. Stay off the streets as much as possible.
5. Obey traffic rules. Keep to the right. Remember the person or vehicle on your right has the right of way.
6. No smoking in the open, during a raid blackout.
7. No smoking anywhere during an air raid.

Citizens Afoot Should Observe Special Rules

Think carefully what route you are going to take, and stick to it.

1. Keep to the right. Walk slowly. Don't shove or push.
2. Keep your eyes to the ground, using only momentary flashes from your lights to pick out the curb or street crossing.
3. Never turn your flashlight upwards, nor allow it to reflect upwards off glass or wet pavement.
4. Never cross streets except at intersections. Wait for traffic lights, and then cross quickly.
5. Wear white belt, or button, or hat-band.
6. Avoid accidents. If you are pushed off-balance you may be struck by a car that cannot possibly see you.
7. If you are hurt, stand still, against a wall, and ask someone to notify a warden.
8. Be courteous at all times.

Military Units Will Co-Operate In Raid Alert

All units of the Canadian army, active and reserve, will co-operate with the Edmonton air raid precautions committee in the test scheme to be staged on Sunday, between 2:00 p.m. and 5:00 p.m., according to Lt.-Col. E. Brown, M.M., E.D., area commander.

Each unit has been allocated an area in which to afford the maximum protection and co-operation. The entire city has been covered as well as the area contiguous to the city limits for a distance of 10 miles.

CITY PROTECTED. The city is protected both within the city and by an enclosing ring around the city. All roads entering the city and all vulnerable points both within the city and in the immediate neighborhood, have been blanketed.

During the scheme, signal units of the area will keep in touch with all military units and with the command post of the Edmonton air raid precautions committee.

Medical units of the area will establish hospital facilities to care for both medical and hygiene arrangements.

The general public is asked to co-operate during the test period.

Salient Features For Raid Conduct

Here are a few salient points that should be retained in the mind by the individual resident:

1. Name, address and telephone number of your air raid warden.
2. Address and telephone number of your zone headquarters.
3. Address of your medical aid, and the nearest route to it.
4. Just keeping cool hurts the enemy more than anything else you can do in the event of an air raid. Keep calm, stay at home and observe blackout regulations rigidly.

English Brides Of Canuck Fighters Reach Dominion

Brides of Canadian servicemen overseas, a group of English women are shown during their first moments on Canadian soil. Mrs. Walter Gilligwater (left) met her husband, a flight sergeant air gunner in the R.C.A.F., from Winnipeg, while he was serving overseas. After they married, she persuaded him to take a pilot's course. He was given permission to remuster and came back to Canada to train. From the (left), in the group picture, are: Mrs. Mac Storey, whose husband was on a stretcher at their wedding in Britain six months ago; Mrs. Gilligwater, and Mrs. J. A. Yesterday it was the Bishops and the Barkers of the Great War who etched the skies with flaming guns and matchless daring. Today from news tickers tumble the stories of great deeds and the names of Canadian airmen who were there. Tomorrow... may it come in peace... the fame and the name of Canada's sky-fighters will live on. Over the breadth of this country thousands of eager youngsters train for the day when they too will write history in the clouds. They are the Air Cadets of Canada... the reservoir of the Royal Canadian Air Force. Not old enough to fight, but not too young to get ready. They have their own smart uniform, their insignia, their own crest. In spare hours they get the elementary training similar to that undergone by the R.C.A.F. They learn about aeroplane engines... aircraft recognition... map reading... model building and other fascinating air lore. Young Canada by the thousands is joining the Air Cadets so that should the time come when their services are needed this basic training will speed their course.

Because the Air Cadet League of Canada is self-supporting and depends on public contributions for its maintenance, The T. EATON Co. takes this space to commend the organization and its objectives to public-spirited citizens everywhere. In particular it commends to your interest the coming performance of a Trans-Canada Celebrities Tour, all proceeds from which will go to speed the work of the Air Cadet League through the Air Marshal Bishop Fund. All the artists are donating their services without charge. So, come on Edmonton, buy tickets for this sparkling performance and so help young air-minded Canada to get the training that may be the bulwark of tomorrow's victory.
